

Michael Brisson is a Director of Economic Research at Moody's Analytics. Mike provides research and analysis for the consumer automotive and auto finance market. Mike designed and oversaw Moody's Analytics' auto residual-value forecasting solution, "AutoCycle", in both the U.S. and Australia. Prior to leading the auto-research group, Mike built CCAR, CECL, IFRS9, and stress-testing models of consumer loan performance as a member of the Moody's Credit Analytics team. Mike regularly presents to clients and conferences and has been featured in a number of print and televised media outlets, ranging from CNBC to The Wall Street Journal. Mike holds a PhD in applied economics from Northeastern University.